HOW TO USE THIS REFERENCE

This is a listing of the MIDI notes that will be produced by all the Drum Pattern and Perc. Pattern GEs. You can use it for several purposes:

- To determine how to set external drum machines to respond to GEs.
- To determine how to remap EXB Expansion Boards Drum Kits to respond to GEs.
- To determine which note numbers can be changed using one of the up to 32 GE RT Parameters.

Note that these are only GEs that have a "GE Type" corresponding to "Generated-Drum". There are a few Drum Pattern GEs that use other GE Types that will not be found in this list. This list also does not include Melodic GEs that use GE Type Generated-Drum.

Please consult the "Drum Group" section of the GE Guide Section of the Parameter Guide, for a more complete description of how the Drum Patterns operate within a GE.

GE Number and Name, followed by the Drum Kit Name it was created for.

Pattern Number - each Drum GE can use up to 3 separate patterns. If a Pattern is not in use, this area will be blank. Brackets around the name indicated the Pattern can be changed by one of the GE RT Parameters.

Transpose setting for each Drum Pattern. In most cases this will be "0", but if it is not, then you must add this value to the note numbers shown. For example, if Transpose was "12", then a note number of "24" is actually generating "36".

MIDI note numbers that will be generated by the GE. Each Pattern has 7 rows that can be set to one of the 128 MIDI Note numbers. If a row is not in use in the Pattern, "-" is shown.

MIDI notes referencing Middle C = C4. Note that whether a note is actually generated or not may depend on other settings of the GE.

Brackets around a parameter [xx] indicate that it can be changed using the GE RT Parameters (7-2 Prog, 7-3 Combi/Seq)
